We want to be included in wishing Hillary a most Happy Birthday.

Hillary has been very special to her Mother and me for many reasons..... the obvious pride of a parent, but more than that alone. Hillary, as an only child did not have the comfortable arena of discussing matters with siblings, fighting and making up, as well as the discovery through "private conversations with her brothers and sisters..

Hillary learned, achieved, and implemented her extraordinary life journeys on her own. She is a voracious reader and possesses keen interest in the world around her. She won a scholarship award for her "intellectual curiosity and artistic talent... voted by her student peers and the faculty. That curiosity was the seed that germinated into what Hillary is today and will be for years ahead in her future.

In spite of her many prestigious honors, she is never satisfied with mediocre results, always striving for the essence of the finest work product, yet very modest about her impressive and significant talents.

During the recent COVID-19 dilemma she was working under protective and physically adverse conditions that were extremely demanding.

She did not dwell on the procedural challenges only on the "best in show" performance results.

As the attached photos illustrate, Hillary was working through that period, even taking time to illustrate to her "Flintstones parents", the intricacies of fine cameras, with patience and helping us understand just a very small part of her world.

On behalf of Susan and myself.... we send our very best Birthday wishes... and as our experienced parental tenure tells us that the "best is yet to come" for Hillary.

Much Love ,
Mom and Dad (Flintstones)
