Re: Child Support Account #FLA0414991 with EDWARD FLANAGAN

Both you and EDWARD FLANAGAN can ask the Office of Child Support (OCS) to review your case now to see whether your monthly child support amount could change.

If you would like to request an OCS review or have any questions, please call your caseworker Rebecca Esposito at (802) 751-2650 or email your caseworker at rebecca.esposito@vermont.gov.

If you're afraid that someone will hurt you or your children, we can help you access the child support system safely. Please contact your caseworker IMMEDIATELY.

Your amount will stay the same until the court changes it. To change the child support amount, you, EDWARD FLANAGAN, or OCS must file a Motion to Modify (or "Modification") with the court.

If you or EDWARD FLANAGAN requests a review, you both will have to provide financial and health insurance information to OCS. Once we finish the review, we will write to let you know the results. If the results show that your child support amount might change, and you request it, OCS will assist with the Modification process so that the court can determine the amount of the child support obligation.
